The Cuyamaca College Botanical Society's (CCBS) scholarship program has helped students stay in the program to complete their educational goals. Last year, CCBS awarded $29,500 to 46 deserving students. This amount was made possible with your generous support of our scholarship program enabling students to complete their horticultural education.

CCBS is hard at work this year to continue the growth in scholarships. Our two scholarship program fundraisers are the Aggie Open Golf Tournament, scheduled for Friday, October 21, 2011 and the Sustainable Urban Landscape Conference scheduled for March 8-9, 2012. With these successes and your continued or increased support of the horticulture program at Cuyamaca College, CCBS will award more scholarships than ever before. We hope you can continue your support of CCBS and attend our CCBS Scholarship and Awards Banquet has moved to a Wednesday evening this year and is scheduled for Wednesday, May 16, 2012.

As we have in years past, CCBS will recognize all donors at the banquet. Contributors of $400 or more may name the scholarship and be our special guests at the banquet to present the scholarship to the recipient.

We look forward to our continued partnership with you as Cuyamaca College continues to seek new opportunities in promoting and expanding horticulture education. Thank you for your support.

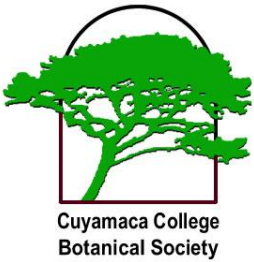

Sincerely,

Louise Parks
